Groundbreaking Ceremony - Speakers

J. Michael Marsh

President & Chief Executive Officer, Overlake Medical Center and Clinics

Overlake President and CEO Mike Marsh's longtime passion for healthcare innovation, clinical excellence and culture of engagement among providers and staff has transformed the Eastside's healthcare landscape. Under Marsh's leadership, Overlake has been recognized by multiple independent organizations for superior value, quality and patient experience. Prior to joining Overlake in 2014, Marsh had three decades of experience in healthcare leadership. He and his family live in Bellevue.

Tom DeBord

Chief Operating Officer, Overlake Medical Center

Since joining Overlake as COO in 2015, Tom DeBord has overseen the day-to-day operations of the hospital including patient care services, cardiac, medical imaging, surgical services, supply chain, facility and support services, and regulatory compliance. DeBord also has had primary responsibility for the planning and implementation of Project FutureCare. DeBord is a Fellow in the American College of Healthcare Executives and board member of the Kirkland Chamber of Commerce.

John Chelminiak

Mayor of Bellevue

Serving his fourth term on the Bellevue City Council, John Chelminiak began his two-year term as Bellevue's mayor in January. Mayor Chelminiak has been a Bellevue resident for more than 20 years, and his daughter, Megan, was born at Overlake.

York Harris

Chair of the Campaign Cabinet for Campaign FutureCare

York retired as a managing director after a 35-year career with Bank America-Merrill Lynch in 2014. For the last seven years, he was recognized on the Barron's Top 1000 in the United States and as a Top 25 advisor in Washington state. York currently serves on the Overlake Foundation board, which his wife, Alice, served on for nine years. Both were active members of the Cancer Center Campaign Committee.
